

We're launching an all-new Economics Podcast, available on your favourite Podcast app.

Hosted by Ulster Bank Chief Economist Richard Ramsey, Ulster Economix – The Podcast keeps you up-to-date on the economy in Northern Ireland. The podcast tells you what you need to know each month, but not always what you want to hear.

The summer has been and gone. So what about the local economy? What is the incoming economic data and news telling us about the local economy and the strength of the recovery?

During the month of August, the public were encouraged to Eat Out To Help Out to support the hospitality sector. September it wasn't so much get out, but get back in. A resurgence in the virus triggered a change in tact from Health Secretary Matt Hancock as he warned the country was at a tipping point with the onset of a second wave of infections.

LISTEN NOW:

The Podcast will be available shortly on Apple Podcasts, Spotify and Google Podcasts.

Share this:

- Twitter
- Facebook
- LinkedIn
- Email